Privacy Policy/Legal Terms and Conditions for Use of This Site

This page states the Terms and Conditions under which you, the website visitor (hereinafter "You" or "visitor"), may use this site, the content of which is owned by the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology and is operated and administered by the two organizations collectively. By using this site, You agree to be bound by all of the Terms and Conditions set forth below. If You do not accept these Terms and Conditions, please do not use this site. The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology may, at their sole discretion, revise these Terms and Conditions at any time; therefore, You should visit this page periodically to review the Terms and Conditions.

The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology seek to improve mental health treatment for children. Although they strive for timeliness and accuracy in all materials, The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology make no representations, warranties, or assurances as to the availability, accuracy, currency, or completeness of this site or its contents. The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology shall not be liable for any damages or injury resulting from Your access to, inability to access, or use of this site, including, without limitation, any damages or injury arising from any links to other sites contained within or referred to in this site.

The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology are committed to preserving Your right to privacy. The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology do not collect identifying information about You (such as Your name, address, telephone number, or email address) unless You voluntarily submit that information to us through our Contact Us page or other means.

Please do not provide any confidential information (including health information) about your child, yourself or anyone to us via electronic communication. Any information you do submit will not be sold to any third parties.

We collect non-personal information about your use of our website through the use of cookies. The information collected by cookies allows us to statistically monitor how many people are using our website. We may use cookie information to determine the popularity of certain content and how long visitors stay on the site.

Additionally, The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology may include a third party cookie from Google in order to use Google Analytics to monitor site statistics. Please note that Google and its wholly owned subsidiaries may retain and use, subject to the terms of its Privacy Policy (located at <http://www.google.com/privacy.html>, or such other URL as Google may provide from time to time), information collected in Your use of the Service.

You do not have to accept our cookies in order to use our site. We do not use cookies to collect or store personal health information about you.

When You visit the site, The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology may automatically collect certain non-identifying information about You, such as the type of browser or computer operating system You use or the domain name of the site from which You linked to us.

Any automatically collected information may be maintained indefinitely and used for our internal purposes, such as assessing traffic patterns and usage of various features on the site, but will not be sold or otherwise disclosed to third parties for any purposes. Notwithstanding any other statements or representations here or elsewhere on the site, The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology reserve their right to disclose any information in its possession if it is required to do so by law, or it believes, in good faith, that such a disclosure is necessary to comply with the law, defend its rights or property, or to respond to an emergency situation.

If You are concerned about the information You have provided to The Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies and the Society of Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology or would like to review, update, or delete that information, please contact us at:
